Introduction

This pamphlet will help you understand rent control laws and regulations. The rent control law is the Rental Housing Act of 1985 (D.C. Law 6-10) as amended (the Act), which is codified as D.C. Official Code §42-3501.01 et seq., as well as the corresponding D.C. Municipal Regulations, Title 14, Chapter 4200 et seq. You can find the complete law in most District of Columbia public libraries or online at: <https://code.dccouncil.us/dc/council/code/titles/42/chapters/35/subchapters/11/>.

Key Divisions

Rental Accommodations Division (RAD)

The Rental Accommodations Division (RAD), which is part of the Department of Housing and Community Development's (DHCD) Housing Regulation Administration (HRA), is responsible for administering the Act. The head of RAD is the Rent Administrator. HRA was transferred from the Department of Consumer and Regulatory Affairs (DCRA) to DHCD effective October 1, 2007.

Office of Administrative Hearings (OAH)

The Office of Administrative Hearings (OAH) conducts hearings on RAD petitions.

Rental Housing Commission

A three-member Rental Housing Commission (RHC) is the first level of appeal of the decisions made on RAD housing provider petitions. The RHC also writes regulations under the Act.

Rent Control Terms

Under the Act, an apartment building, apartment complex or house is called a housing accommodation, and a single apartment or room is called a rental unit. A tenant is a tenant, but a landlord is referred to as a housing provider. For certain types of rental units, the Act regulates how often and how much a housing provider may increase rent. That is called "rent stabilization" under the Act but is commonly known as "rent control."

Applicability

The Act applies to all housing accommodations and rental units in the District of Columbia. The rent adjustment section of the Act does not apply to rental units that are specifically exempted by the Act. The most common exemptions are rental units in these categories:

- rental units owned or subsidized by the Federal or District governments;
- rental units built after 1975;
- rental units (including condominium or cooperative units) owned by a natural person who owns no more than four rental units in the District of Columbia;

- rental units that were vacant when the Act took effect; and
- Housing accommodations under a building improvement plan and receiving rehabilitation assistance through DCHD.

Registration

Every housing accommodation or rental unit must be registered with RAD by filing a RAD Registration or Claim of Exemption form (RAD Form 1). Once registered, the housing accommodation or rental unit is assigned a registration number. If the housing accommodation or rental unit qualifies for exemption, it is assigned an exemption number. If a housing accommodation or rental unit was initially exempt from rent stabilization but later falls under rent stabilization, the housing provider must amend the RAD Registration or Claim of Exemption form at that time. Changes in ownership or management must be filed with RAD within 30 days of the event. Unregistered housing accommodations or rental units are automatically rent stabilized until the property is registered with an approved exemption.

Increases in Rent

Under the Act, any increase in rent for a rental unit that is rent stabilized must meet these conditions:

1. The new rent charged may not be more than the prior rent plus an allowable increase (described below).
2. The increase in rent charged cannot be more than the increase allowed under any single section of the Act.
3. The last increase in rent must have been at least 12 months ago (unless the unit is vacant).
4. The increase must not violate the lease agreement.
5. The housing accommodation must be properly registered with the RAD.
6. The rental unit and the housing accommodation's common elements must be in substantial compliance with housing condition regulations.
7. The housing provider must give a tenant a 30-day advance notice of any increase in rent.

Allowable Rent Increases Based on CPI-W

The most common allowable increase in rent is an annual adjustment, based on the increase in the Consumer Price Index for the Washington, D.C. Metropolitan Statistical Area (CPI-W). For most tenants, the most that their rent can increase is the CPI-W percentage plus 2 percent, but not more than 10 percent. For elderly tenants or tenants with a disability, the maximum increase in rent charged is the Consumer Price Index (CPI) percentage or the Social Security Act Cost of Living Adjustment (COLA), whichever is less, but not more than 5 percent.

Allowable increases based on CPI or COLA are sometimes called automatic – because no petition or other special steps are required.

Rent Increases When a Unit Becomes Vacant or ‘Vacancy Increase’

The only exception to the limit of one rent increase per year is when a rental unit becomes vacant. When a tenant vacates a rental unit, the housing provider can raise the rent charged to:

1. 10 percent more than the rent charged to the former tenant if the former tenant occupied the unit for 10 years or less; or
2. 20 percent more than the rent charged to the former tenant if the former tenant occupied the unit for more than 10 years.

Once there has been a vacancy increase in rent, the housing provider cannot make another increase in rent of any type for 12 months, even if another vacancy occurs.

Other Allowable Rent Increases

A housing provider may choose to seek larger allowable increases under other provisions of the Act, by filing petitions for hardship, capital improvements, services and facilities substantial rehabilitation, or a voluntary agreement with 70 percent of the tenants. The other allowable increases, described in more detail below, are not automatic. The housing provider must petition or otherwise seek the consent of the Rent Administrator and tenants may choose to participate in the process, often at hearings before an administrative hearing judge.

Hardship

Under the Act, housing providers are allowed to raise rents enough to earn a 12 percent rate-of-return on the housing provider’s rental property investment.

To apply for this increase, the housing provider must document operating expenses for 12 of the last 15 months preceding the filing of the hardship petition. RAD will notify the tenants that a hardship petition has been filed and allow the tenants to designate a representative to support or oppose the petition.

RAD performs an audit of the hardship petition and supporting income and expense documents. The Rent Administrator issues an order granting or denying the hardship petition. The housing provider and tenants may each submit exceptions and objections to the Rent Administrator’s order. If exceptions and objections are submitted, a hearing will be held with OAH to resolve the disputed matters. OAH will issue an order setting the rent increase.

Capital Improvements

A housing provider can petition to increase rents by an amount enough to cover the cost of capital improvements. This type of increase in rent is called a surcharge. A capital improvement is an improvement or renovation other than ordinary repair, or maintenance if the improvement or renovation is deemed depreciable under the Internal Revenue Code. A housing provider files a petition, serves copies to the tenants, and presents the case to OAH. For non-emergency improvements, the capital improvement petition must be filed before the work begins. For emergency improvements, the capital improvement petition must be filed no later than 10 calendar days after the installation of the emergency improvement. Tenants may support or oppose the petition. If OAH does not approve or deny the surcharge within 60 days after the petition is filed, the housing provider may begin to perform the work pending OAH approval. If OAH approves the surcharge, the housing provider completes the work and may then raise rents.

OAH makes a ruling on the capital improvement petition, based on whether:

- the improvement will protect or enhance the health, safety and security of the tenants or the habitability of the housing accommodation;
- the improvement will be depreciable under the Internal Revenue Code;
- required governmental permits and approvals have been secured; and
- the design and cost of the work are sufficiently documented.

In addition to the work's cost, the housing provider can include financing costs, including interest and service charges. The housing provider must spread the costs of a building-wide improvement project over 96 months. For an improvement to one or more but not all rental units, the costs must be spread over 64 months. Only units affected by the capital improvements are subject to rent increases.

The surcharge may be no more than 20 percent of the prior rent charged for a building-wide capital improvement and no more than 15 percent for an improvement that does not affect all rental units.

The Act allows a housing provider to continue the surcharge until the housing provider has recovered all costs, including interest and service charges, of the capital improvement. Certain low-income elderly and disabled tenants can be exempted from a capital improvement surcharge.

The surcharge is terminated once the housing provider recovers all costs of the capital improvements.

Services and Facilities

The Act allows an adjustment in rents when related services or facilities supplied by a housing provider or a housing accommodation or for any rental unit in the housing accommodation are increased or decreased.

A housing provider files a petition, serves copies to the tenants, and presents the case for the change at an OAH hearing. Tenants may support or oppose the petition. OAH makes a ruling on the petition, based on:

- the cost to the tenant of buying alternate related services or comparable facilities;
- the operating cost to the housing provider of the related services or facilities; or
- the fair market value of comparable related services or facilities.

Substantial Rehabilitation

The housing provider may submit a petition to raise rents for a substantial rehabilitation of the housing accommodation. A substantial rehabilitation petition is filed only when proposed rehabilitation cost equals or is more than 50 percent of the real property tax assessment of the rental unit or housing accommodation. The petition must include detailed plans, specifications and projected costs. The tenants are notified, a hearing is conducted, and OAH issues a decision before the work starts. The maximum allowed rent increase is 125 percent.

This rent increase is not a temporary surcharge, but a permanent increase. When determining if a substantial rehabilitation is warranted, OAH considers:

- whether the substantial rehabilitation is in the interest of the tenants;
- the existing physical condition of the rental unit or housing accommodation as shown by reports or testimony of D.C. housing inspectors, licensed engineers, architects and contractors, or other qualified experts;
- whether the existing physical condition impairs or tends to impair the health, safety, or welfare of any tenant;
- whether the existing physical conditions can be corrected by improved maintenance, repair or capital improvement; and
- the impact of the proposed rehabilitation on the tenant or tenants in terms of proposed financial cost, inconvenience, or relocation.

70 Percent Voluntary Agreement

The Act allows tenants of a housing accommodation to enter into a Voluntary Agreement with the housing provider to establish the rent, capital improvements, services and facilities, or repairs and maintenance. If the housing provider initiates the Voluntary Agreement, the tenants must be given at least 14 days to review it following the filing of the Voluntary Agreement with RAD and service on the tenants.

The Rent Administrator must approve the Voluntary Agreement and any conditions in the Voluntary Agreement must be met before rents can be raised. If approved, the Voluntary Agreement will affect all tenants, including those tenants who did not sign the Voluntary Agreement.

Note: The Voluntary Agreement Moratorium Amendment Act of 2020 (D.C. Law L23-0246 effective March 16, 2021) prohibits voluntary agreements for two years. RAD is not presently accepting voluntary agreements for review.

Tenant Petition

A tenant who believes that a rent adjustment is incorrect may file a tenant petition with RAD. When a petition is filed:

1. RAD accepts the petition,
2. RAD transfers the petition to OAH for a hearing;
3. OAH conducts a hearing;
4. The tenant and the housing provider each present their argument(s); and

5. OAH issues a decision and order.

A tenant petition may address any perceived violation(s) of the Act.

Protections for Elderly and Persons with a Disability

Under the Act, elderly and persons with a disability are exempt from specific rent adjustments.

To qualify:

- As an elderly tenant – a tenant must be at least 62 years old.
- As a tenant with a disability – a tenant must have a disability as defined by the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (Title 42, Section 12102(2)(A) of the United States Code).

A tenant who believes he or she fits the definitions of elderly or disabled under the Act should contact the Rental Accommodations Division when receiving a rent increase to determine whether he or she qualifies for an exemption from the rent increase.

Act and Regulations

This pamphlet outlines the Act but does not include every detail. Interested parties are encouraged to review the Act and its regulations or to ask a lawyer or housing professional for more help.

When laws are enacted, they are called statutes. Statutes then become part of the D.C. Official Code; in that process section numbers are changed. The website shows the law in code form.

The section numbers from the statute appear in the notes below the text of the law.

To find the Act online, go to <https://code.dccouncil.us/dc/council/code/titles/42/chapters/35/subchapters/III/> and click on the section you want. The Act can be printed from the website.

The regulations are part of Title 14 of the District of Columbia Municipal Regulations (2004 ed., as amended). The complete regulations cover Chapter 38-44, but Chapter 42 has key provisions for registration, rent stabilization, petitions, and evictions.

To find the regulations online, go to <https://www.dcregs.dc.gov/Common/DCMR/RuleList.aspx?ChapterNum=14-42&ChapterId=2275> and click on the section you want.

The regulations can be printed from the website.
